FAMOUS PAINTING ATTRACTS ATTENTION

(By Associated Press.)
PAPEETE, T. H., Jan. 5.—Interest aroused in Tahiti by the latter day appreciation of the paintings of Gaupain and that rather unpleasant novel said to have been founded on incidents in Gaupain's life—Schner-set Maugham's "Moon and Sixpence," has attracted a number of writers and artists to the islands. All aspects of scenery and life are being committed to paper and canvas with great diligence.

Every steamer brings new recruits and the officers of artists and the galleries of art dealers are threatened with an early avalanche of South Sea Island material which promises the pre-eminence of copies as the principal article of export from the port of Papeete.

AMUSEMENTS

PEARL WHITE AT THE BUTLER TODAY

Popular Pearl White will appear at the Butler today in the big Willam Fox production, "The Thief," based on Henri Bernstein's celebrated stage success of New York, London and Paris.

The combination of a star of Miss White's magnitude, coupled with a story like "The Thief," should certainly bring an extraordinary attraction.

"The Thief" is a story of a woman who marries a man who cannot give her the fine clothes worn by other women in his social circle, and their sneers and the snubs of the men cause her to steal money for gowns. Her wonderful clothes bring a change at once. Women patronize her. Men try to make love to her. And one man even takes the blame for several thefts, to shield her. A play that made its author rich. It is sure to please all who see it. A Ford Weekly and Pathé Review will be added to the program. Tomorrow, Lionel Barrymore in "The Master Mind," A First National attraction.

Coming Monday, Priscilla Dean in "The Virgin of Stamboul."

INITIATIVE DIVORCE PETITION INCOURT

CARSON CITY, Jan. 5. Will the passing of a file old year be the last during which the present divorce laws will be effective? This is the question that is being asked many times a day around executive offices and law offices, between you and me.

The supreme court issued an alternative writ of mandamus last Thursday demanding that Secretary of State George Bradford show cause on Thursday next why he should not file and present to the legislature the initiative petition for an amended divorce law, and which petition is said to have been circulated at the instigation of Bishop George C. Huntington, and later sent to the secretary of state by the bishop.

The initiative petition, as it is commonly known in Carson City, asks the legislature to enact a law providing for an interlocutory decree in divorce cases to be made final at the end of a year, where there is no prospect of the parties being reconciled.

The petition reached the office of the secretary of state on December 17. The secretary of state declined to file it because it contained the names of 2109 electors, whereas the state office holds that a petition must be signed by 2500. It is now a question of interpretation, and at present the bishop and secretary of state differ. This is the question to be settled by the supreme court. Experts here say there are more divorces in California in proportion to population than in Nevada, whereas Oregon, according to figures announced and published broadcast this month, shows Oregon with its "iron-bound" laws exhibiting a much larger percentage of divorces than did Nevada.

ONE HUNDRED LABOR UNIONS IN NEVADA

CARSON CITY, Nev. Jan. 5. Approximately 25 per cent of employees of various industries in Nevada are organized in labor unions, the biennial report of State Labor Commissioner Frank Ingram, which is now being printed, will show. The figures prepared by the commissioner are taken from the reports of the employers and union officials.

One hundred local unions having a total membership of 6337 and affiliations with 37 national organizations constitute the state's quota of organized labor, according to the report, and of these railroad employees are shown to have the greatest number with 49 unions and 3695 membership. Miners have 16 unions and 1171 membership; building, 13 unions and 529 membership; manufacturing, 10 unions and 159 membership; and miscellaneous, 13 unions and 743 membership. The railroad employees are over 50 per cent organized.

In 1918 Nevada had 59 unions, with a total personnel of 3119, but since that time twice as many employees have organized. The membership is distributed throughout the state as follows:

Sparks, 13 unions, 1553; Reno, 21 unions, 1044; Las Vegas, 11 unions, 553; McGill, 4 unions, 530; Tonopah, 9 unions, 406; Ely, 10 unions, 379; East Ely, 5 unions, 358; Elko, 6 unions, 316; Virginia City, 2 unions, 198; Winnemucca, 4 unions, 190; Montello, 2 unions, 152; Wabuska, 1 union, 108; Carlin, 2 unions, 70; Caliente, 2 unions, 30; Carson, 1 union, 28; Gold Hill, 1 union, 18; Silver City, 1 union, 16; Goldfield, 1 union, 13.

Telegraphers have their union headquarters outside the state, but they are shown to have a membership of 365 in three unions covering Nevada.

Washoe Typographical union No. 65, organized in Virginia City is the latest union in the state.
